The 10 participants were further assorted into pairs and were asked a question. But before answering the question, they had to perform a task. In this task, the five pairs of participants were given two balloons each. The rule was -They had to blow the balloons and blast it (by sitting on it) and only after this were they allowed to buzz and answer the question. The pair that finished the task first and answers the question correctly was qualified. From the pair that got qualified, we selected one participant by asking them to solve a riddle.

The participant had to answer 10 questions (Rs. 100 for each) to win the contest. Two lifelines were included- Audience poll and double dip. Two safe zones were included at Rs.200 and Rs. 700 (As mentioned in the ppt below). A time limit of 60 seconds was given to answer until the second safe zone; further there is no time limit to answer the questions.
